

DANIELLE WALLINGA, PA-C

A medical career was a natural choice for me. I enjoy the various fields of medicine and love working with people. I am passionate about helping those who need help. I want them to know I genuinely care about them. My special interests are female health care, well-child care and small office procedures. I graduated from the University of South Dakota School of Medicine and am board certified as a family practice physician assistant. When I am not helping to heal others, I enjoy water sports and am very involved in music, specifically vocal.

“I chose Avera because they really do care about their employees and patients.”

JAMIE MILLER, NP

My passion for medicine lies in providing preventative health care for the whole family, at the best value. It combines my enjoyment of the science of medicine with my love of working with people. I graduated from Creighton University in Omaha Nebraska and my special interests are women's health, diabetes, high blood pressure, and pediatrics. In addition to my medical profession, I am a cattleman's wife and enjoy giving my 'expert advice' on sick cattle!
